Elkhart County Community Foundation

A Special Thanks and ECCF Mission Statement

W. Earl Taylor, C.F.R.E.
ECCF Retired President, June 30, 2011

W. Earl Taylor became president of the Elkhart County Community Foundation at the beginning of its second decade in 2000. During the 11 years of his leadership, ECCF has grown as a catalyst for making positive change happen in our County. Grants to community not-for-profit agencies and organizations grew from approximately $3,800,000 in ECCF's first decade to an additional $28 million by the end of the second.

More than once, Earl has been known to say "the currency in which we trade is trust..." That trust has become even more evident during the past three years of challenging economic times.

Thanks to ECCF's professional financial advisors' prudent counsel and conservative approach to investing, ECCF was able to retain its resiliency through the financial downturn, growing its assets from $20 million to nearly $50 million in the past 10 years.

This faith and confidence in ECCF is due in part to the intentionality Earl brought to ECCF: deliberate, purposeful planning so that ECCF would be successful in accomplishing its mission. Thank you, Earl, for your intelligence, wisdom and professionalism.

Best wishes on your retirement.

"It is no use saying 'we are doing our best.' You must succeed in doing what is necessary."

Sir Winston Churchill

Our Mission

We inspire people to make charitable gifts that improve the quality of life in Elkhart County. We solicit and develop endowment funds and distribute income from them for the benefit of our community.

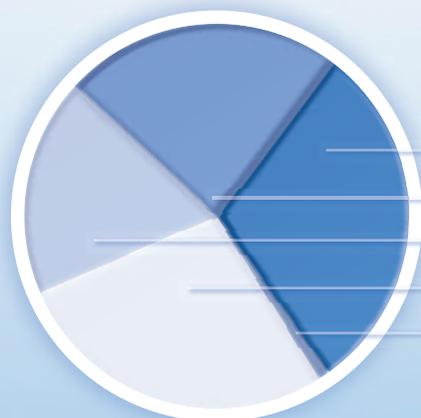

We do so with enthusiasm, dedication and sincere passion, because the ECCF is the philanthropic catalyst for making positive change possible for adults and children in Elkhart County.

Individual gifts made through, not to, the ECCF build a permanent sum of monies with the interest from that sum – in the form of community grants – allowing us to respond to current, ongoing and emerging community needs.

Lerner Theatre Project

Following the completion of the successful ECCF/IUSB-Elkhart Center project, fund-raising for the next large-scale downtown venture in the 400 block of South Main began for the restoration of the historic, 86-year-old Elco/Lerner Theatre, owned by the City of Elkhart.

Knowing how efficiently ECCF had housed the funds for the IUSB-Elkhart Center, Bob Deputy, past ECCF board chair, said it was a logical step for ECCF to also become the fiscal agent for this initiative. "This is the value of a community foundation. We knew tax-deductible funds raised for the Lerner would be handled judiciously and with transparency," he says.

While Deputy and Art Decio, Tom Dusthimer and Jeff Wells, among others, worked behind the scenes to raise initial seed money, Mayor Dick Moore appointed Dallas Bergl (INOVA) and Diana Lawson (Elkhart County Convention & Visitors Bureau) to lead the 400 Block group. Their task: to develop an action plan, including extensive market studies, to redevelop this portion of Main Street as an urban entertainment destination offering theatre, musical performances, the arts and more.

The result? The glorious restoration of this historic theatre, officially opening in time for the June 2011 Elkhart Jazz Festival. "What we have now is due in large part to the efforts of project manager Jack Cittadine," Deputy says. "He had the passion for it and worked tirelessly to get it done."

To everyone involved in this ambitious project, ECCF says, "applause, applause!"

Jack Cittadine,
Lerner Theatre Project Manager

Lilly Scholarship

In 2001 Melinda (Mindy) Whitehead, a senior at Goshen's Fairfield High School, was a recipient of a multi-year Lilly Endowment Community Scholarship awarded through ECCF.

This enabled her to enroll at Indiana Wesleyan, a private Methodist college, to pursue a degree in elementary education. "I was so shocked," Mindy says; "I couldn't have gone there without a scholarship. God opened the door for me to go."

Returning to Goshen after graduation, Mindy now teaches second grade at Goshen Westside Elementary School, where the students come from low income homes and all qualify for the school's free or reduced lunch program.

Although the school received a grant for the program, the children were not allowed to take food home for either themselves or their siblings. So one Christmas, Mindy and a group of fellow Sugar Grove Church members started a food pantry for the school. As other church members learned of the students' needs, the pantry became a permanent project.

Speaking at ECCF's Lilly Scholarship Banquet two years ago, Mindy spoke of the importance of giving back to your community. Whether it's here in Elkhart County or a new community, "get involved," Mindy encouraged them. "Through your Lilly Scholarship, you've received an awesome gift. It's important to pay it forward by giving back."

Farmers and Hunters Feeding the Hungry

Grateful recipients of the FHFH food program

Farmers and Hunters Feeding the Hungry is currently a national organization based in Maryland serving a number of states as an outreach ministry of God's people, transforming a renewable resource into food for the hungry. Surplus deer, other big game and cattle are donated and inspected by a qualified meat processor to process, package and freeze the meat; it is then available, free of cost, for pick up by food banks and other feeding programs.

In 2010 in Elkhart County all of the donated meat, processed by DC Meats in Osceola, went to Faith Mission of Elkhart. "That's a minimum of 9,000 pounds or enough for almost 36,000 meals," according to Deb Treesh, FHFH coordinator. "Food banks and programs like the Mission's are a transition between federal assistance and... nothing. This is such a positive program; there's so much need out there."

In 2012 the northern Indiana segment of FHFH will transition to an Indiana-based, 100% volunteer program with no overhead, says Treesh. They'll be known as Hoosiers Feeding the Hungry. While their mission statement will change slightly, the overall goal will remain the same: feeding the hungry by providing nutritious, high protein meat to those in need.

Robert E. and Sandy Richardson

filling glasses*

Retired Elkhart businessman Bob Richardson and his wife Sandy have two different types of funds through the Elkhart County Community Foundation: a permanent named fund and a non-endowed fund. "We utilize the Community Foundation for two things," Bob explains.

"Through the permanent fund we currently help support major community projects such as the Lerner Theatre and the Wellfield Botanic Gardens.

However, I have a large concern during this economic downturn regarding the substantial unemployment in our County. Our non-endowed fund allows us to contribute money where it is needed for food, clothes and shelter."

"We have complete confidence in the ability of the ECCF board, the grant committee and the staff to see what we want done effectively and efficiently," Bob adds.

"This is the one convenient place for our Elkhart-based contributions to enhance the quality of life in Elkhart County."

Pete McCown's Vision for ECCF

Effective August 15, 2011, the reins of ECCF's leadership were turned over to Pete McCown, an executive with over 15 years' experience in management, fundraising, public relations, board governance... and strategic planning. The following are a few words from our new president:

*Peter L. McCown, Ph.D.
ECCF President,
effective August 15, 2011*

"One year ago I was settling into the fall semester of a new academic year as a professor in the School of Business at Bethel College.

Fulfilled in my role at Bethel, I never imagined I would be serving as the lead administrator for the Elkhart County Community Foundation by the time the next class of freshmen arrived on campus. Today, I am thrilled to find myself here at the Foundation and want to thank the board, key volunteers, community leaders and staff for their warm welcome during these months of transition.

"These are exciting days for the Elkhart County Community Foundation. In the year ahead the Foundation's board and staff will be actively engaged in strategically planning for the future. Thankfully, we will be developing these blueprints from ECCF's solid position of strength and vitality. For this, we owe thanks to the men and women who invested their time, reputation, resources and emotion in ECCF's establishment, people like: Bill Myers, Wilbert Budd, Laura Rydson, Oscar Schricker, Tom Warrick, Bill Johnson and many others who have carried their founding vision forward over the last 23 years. I pray those of us currently engaged with the Foundation will be equally worthy stewards in the years ahead."

We extend our gratitude and thanks to the giving people of Elkhart County who see a partially full glass of water... and keep filling that glass for those who are thirsty.

The Elkhart County Community Foundation connects the giving people throughout our County with agencies that help those in need. As you read this Annual Report, you see example after example of giving people helping others. We hope that one or more of these instances will make you stop and think... of how you too can help. Even the smallest gift makes positive, life-altering change possible for men, women and families in our County.

If you have questions, we can help.
Call us: 574.295.8761.

“Sometimes the greatest works come from those who dare to dream...”
